

Vedette Shapewear Size Chart

Since 1982, Vedette Shapewear has been the most comfortable shapewear you will ever wear. Because of the natural compression shaping characteristics, it is important to wear the proper size. Each Vedette style is designed to smooth and flatten a specific part of the body which provides for different results. All Vedette Lingerie is manufactured and designed in Colombia, SA to the strictest quality control standards.

Step 1: Measuring your waist

Wrap the tape measure snugly, but without cinching, around the natural indentation or break at your waist. If you can't find this curve, bend to the side and the crease will show you where to measure. This is your waist measurement. Write it down, you'll need it in a moment.

Step 2: Measure your hips

Wrap the tape measure around the fullest part of your hips, but not your bum area. Use the mirror to make sure the tape measure is straight completely around. The tape measure should be slightly snug (but not overly tight) and parallel to the floor. Write this down as well.

Below is a measurement size reference chart to help determine which size is the best for you. Determine if your style primarily goes by your waist or hip measurement - see reference below.

Waist Measurement: Use to size all Waist Clincher-Corset Styles.

Hip Measurement: Use to size styles that pull up; have a bottom/panty.

If your measurement is at very high end of range, best to use next size up.
